

133 HAZELTON

RESIDENCES

ONLY A FEW MORE PEOPLE WILL BE ABLE TO CALL IT HOME

From the moment 133 Hazelton came on the market 3 months ago, home-owners immediately understood why and how it stands apart from the competition. Just 30 days after the Presentation Gallery opened, half of the residences sold. Now only a few select ones remain. There's still the opportunity to custom-design your home in the building everyone is talking about. You can make your home the size you want in the configuration that suits your needs. But there's a limited time in which you will have maximum design flexibility to customize your home. Now is the time to come to our Presentation Gallery to see how you can live your Parisian-style dream.

It's not just Toronto's Yorkville neighbourhood that makes 133 Hazelton so popular. It goes without saying that proximity to everything you love about urban life is an advantage, especially when you're cosseted away in a Victorian-era residential quarter under the shelter of mature trees. What makes the 35 residences and three townhomes of 133 Hazelton different is the attention to detail and the quality of the craftsmanship. The exterior is a smooth, tiered facade of pale limestone. Inside, the wood panelling, high, coffered ceilings and marble floors are an expression of old-world elegance. Heavy, wooden doors lead out to the generous terraces. Curvilinear walls help create the feeling of a calm cocoon, an enclosure that is your sanctuary behind tall windows that silence the outside world.

Walk into the Presentation Gallery, and you immediately feel that here is where you belong, that this is a place infused with the inspiration of a lifetime of travel to the world's best destinations. But that's not all. Inside 133 Hazelton is where you'll also find the professional service of a dedicated, uniformed staff, including a 24/7 concierge. There's a great room for entertaining with a large dining room and catering kitchen; a fitness retreat; private theatre; and luxurious overnight accommodations for guests.

Visit our Presentation Gallery at Hazelton Avenue and Davenport Road to find out how you can custom-design a home exactly as you want in the building that has everyone talking.
